Cain Center for the Arts Cornelius, North Carolina

The Town of Cornelius recognized the need for and impact of a cultural venue to revitalize and enrich the community through the arts. The result is the Cain Center – a downtown hub for visual and performing arts and social experiences. The Center features a 400-seat multi-purpose theatre designed to change between a seated venue and a flat floor room for banquets, a dance studio, art classrooms and gallery, meeting spaces, and an outdoor plaza for festivals and other events.
